

Objection! You're Fiction: Michael Clayton - with Adam Pollock

In “Objection! You’re Fiction” (Apple Podcasts, July 26, 2024), Pollock Cohen managing partner, Adam Pollock, joins host Lee Bergstein of Bergstein Flynn Knowlton & Pollina PLLC to discuss the complexities of whistleblower cases and the legal implications portrayed in the Oscar-nominated 2007 legal thriller Michael Clayton.

In the podcast, Pollock explains that even though the film “is not a whistleblower movie” or “class action movie,” but more accurately, “a mass tort movie,” it raises important questions about the moral dilemmas faced by attorneys in big law firms and the ethical struggles of lawyers representing large corporations.

To listen to the full podcast, click on the link below.

Objection! You're Fiction: Michael Clayton - with Adam Pollock on Apple Podcasts