

Pizza & Politics with Steve Cohen

Pollock Cohen Partner Steve Cohen spoke at the Harvard Kennedy School Institute of Politics Pizza & Politics series on Thursday, November 14, 2024. Steve shared insights from his 35 years of experience as a successful publishing executive, including positions at Time and Scholastic. He discussed his accomplishments as the author of seven books, three of which became best-sellers, and his role as the CEO of three internet start-ups.

Additionally, Steve offered a unique perspective as a non-traditional law student and as a founding partner at Pollock Cohen LLP. He discussed his work on public impact litigation and plaintiff-side class actions, among them securing $1.8 billion in relief for 250,000 New York City municipal retirees and representing actors in a class action lawsuit against Lovo, an AI voice generator that cloned and sold their voices without permission.

Harvard Kennedy School Institute of Politics | Pizza & Politics with Steve Cohen